Abstract: This paper is a preliminary study to understand the connections between God, man, and nature. A comparative study of Moslem culture and our world leads to a deeper understanding of the relationships between our own natural world, God, and man. Furthermore, we also believe that this understanding can contribute to building harmony between different cultures. In this paper, we focus on mountains in the Qur’an that is the basis of all facets of Moslem’s daily life, classify their features from the perspective of the relationship between God and man, and analyze the relationships between God and man and mountains. The results of our study produced eight types of mountains. We then expressed the schema of each type in a diagram. The diagrams allowed the visualization of the diverse features of the relationships between God, man, and mountains; any of the three could be the subject.

1. Introduction

Men¹ are not simply animals born naked into nature. Different peoples each carry the cradle called culture, and they are placed in nature enveloped by culture. Nature also reflects the myriad geographic characteristics of the different regions on earth. Accordingly, culture is nurtured in the midst of different types of nature. Different gods are enshrined at the center of cultures, and different ways of living are devised by different peoples. This paper is a preliminary attempt to understand the connections between nature, God, and man.

The authors of this paper were born and raised in a natural environment rich in water and greenery, characteristic of monsoon climate. Furthermore, this nature is surrounded by the sea, and the unique culture in we were born and raised is shaped by these characteristics. On the other hand, a people of culture where flowers bloom in the midst of semi-arid land surrounded by vast deserts may be a culture that is the polar opposite of ours. Comparing this Islamic culture and our world may lead to a deeper understanding of the connections between our natural world, God, and man. We also believe that this understanding will contribute to building harmony between different cultures.

The Qur’an, the holy scripture of Islam, differs from the scriptures of other religions in that it is said to be God’s words dictated to the prophet Mohammed to be transmitted to men. Because of this feature, the Qur’an provides the foundation not only of religious worship, but also the basis for all facets of daily life, such as Islamic law.

There has been research conducted in numerous fields, including religious studies and philosophy, on the view of nature expounded in the Qur’an. Meanwhile, in the field of architectural studies, Fukami has conducted a study in which she examined various concepts related to nature mentioned in a Japanese translation of the Qur’an to seek observations related to water culture in Islam.² Fukami extracted not only phrases and phenomena related to nature, but also descriptions of man-made objects and disasters, and observed thoughts toward nature in the time period when Islam was established. She discerned a strong yearning for water³ at the root of Islamic thought.

In contrast to such previous research, in this paper we focus on mountains, which were created after the sky and the earth in the Qur’an, and constitute an important element in the formation of nature. On the other hand in Japanese culture, mountains are highly respected as God or the field of God and they are the subjects of faith for example Mount Fuji. As just described, mountain is an important element of nature for us. What kinds of the features do mountains in the Qur’an have? In this paper, we tried to categorize and analyze the features of mountains with a focus on the relationships between God, man, and mountains in order to capture the features of them.

1.1. OBJECT OF ANALYSIS AND METHODS

Object of analysis: We analyzed The Meaning of the Holy Qur’an, is English translation of the Qur’an. The Qur’an is composed of 114 sura (chapters), and each sura is further divided into verses, which number 6,236 in total.

Methods of analysis: (I) All verses in the entire text of the Qur’an containing the noun “mountain(s)” or “mount” or “hill(s)” were extracted. Also, verses in which mountain is used to express “valley,” for example in phrases like “between two mountains,” and verses in which “mount” is written in parenthesis to aid interpretation were excluded. A total of 63 verses were extracted as a result. When extracting the verses, only when it is difficult to analyze the features of the mountain(s) in the verse alone are preceding and succeeding verses also extracted to aid analysis. (II) The features of mountain(s)/hill(s) in the 63 extracted verses were analyzed, and the types of mountains were extracted with a focus on the relationships between God, man, and mountains.
2. Results and Discussion

From the analysis of classifying the types of mountains with a focus on the relationships between God and man and mountains, we extracted the following eight uses of mountains in the Qur’An: (1) Mountains set by God on earth and blessings; (2) Mountains that God crushes, shakes, and raises, resulting in man’s fear of God; (3) Mountains of Judgment on the Last Day; (4) Mountains that praise God and bow down in worship to him; (5) Mountains established by men as secure houses and shelters in return for fear of God; (6) Mountains as fixed geographic locations; (7) Mountains as tall and strong objects; and (8) Other types of mountains.

Below, we discuss the features of each category of mountains that we extracted by citing the text of the Qur’an.

2.1. MOUNTAINS SET BY GOD ON EARTH AND BLESSINGS

Twelve verses belong to this category: 13:3, 15:19, 16:15, 21:31, 27:61, 31:10, 41:10, 50:7, 77:27, 78:7, 79:32, and 88:19 (Table 1). Along with the type of mountains described in Section 2.3 below, this type of mountains appear most frequently in the Qur’an. Thus, (a) we read that God made mountains “as pegs”. God “made therein mountains standing firm, lofty,” “set on the earth mountains standing firm,” and made mountains “immovable.” As a result, (b) man could receive the blessings of “Sustenance.” Specifically, the blessings include the stabilization of the earth, “sweet water” and “beautiful growth,” many “beasts” and “cattle” and “things in due balance,” which grow under a suitable equilibrium (Figure 1).

Fig 1. Mountains set by God on earth and blessings

Verses belonging to as (a) include: “Have We not made... and the mountains as pegs?” (78:7) and “We... made therein mountains standing firm, lofty (in stature)” (77:27). Here, mountains are installed by God (created as “pegs”) by God and immobilized on the earth. Other verses include “We... set thereon mountains firm and immovable” (15:19) and “the mountains hath He firmly fixed” (79:32). Here, God affixed mountains firmly on earth. They are also firmly placed. As shown in verses such as “And We have set on the earth mountains standing firm, lest it should shake with them” (21:31) and “He set on the earth mountains standing firm, lest it should shake with you” (31:10), the mountains made the earth immovable by being staked upon it.

Verses categorized as (b) include “…measure therein all things to give them nourishment in due proportion... in accordance with the needs of those who seek (Sustenance)” (41:10), “…produced therein every kind of beautiful growth” (50:7), and “For use and convenience to you and your cattle” (79:33). Here, man could receive the blessing of “sustenance” as a result of the stabilization of earth by God’s staking of mountains.

2.2. MOUNTAINS THAT GOD CRUSHES, SHAKES, AND RAISES, RESULTING IN MAN’S FEAR OF GOD

Eight verses belong to this category: 2:63, 2:93, 4:154, 7:143, 7:171, 13:31, 19:90, and 59:21 (Table 1). Here, (a) God raises over man’s head; God shocks mountain as a canopy; God moves it; God “make(s) it as dust”; and “cleave(s) [them] asunder.” As a result, (b) men “reflect” and fear God; Moses “turns in repentance” over their unbelief of God and gives glory to God (Figure 2).

Fig 2. Mountains that God crushes, shakes, and raises, resulting in man’s fear of God

Verses that belong to (a) include “And for their covenant we raised over them (the towering height) of Mount (Sinai).... And we took from them a solemn covenant” (4:154). In the same manner, 2:93 states that God “raised over” Mount Sinai when he “take from a solemn covenant” with Moses. Also, the mighty power of God is shown by his moving mountains (“If there were mountains which were moved, or the earth were cloven asunder, or the dead were made to speak, (this would be the one!) But, truly, the command is with Allah in all things!” [13:31]) and causing it to fall (19:90).

Verses demonstrating (b) include 7:143:

He said: “O my Lord! show (Thyself) to me, that I may look upon Thee.” Allah said: “By no means canst thou see Me (direct); But look upon the mount; if it abide in its place, then shalt thou see Me.” When His Lord manifested His glory on the Mount, He made it as dust. And Moses fell down in a swoon. When he recovered his senses he said: “Glory be to Thee! to Thee I turn in repentance, and I am the first to believe.”

As a result of God’s “mak[ing] as dust” “the Mount,” Moses feared God and “fell down in a swoon.” When he recovered, he turned in repentance and believed. Another verse states: “Had We sent down this Qur’an on a mountain, verily, thou wouldst have seen it humble itself and cleave asunder for fear of Allah. Such are the similitudes which We propound to men, that they... may reflect” (59:21). Here, God “cleave[s] asunder” a mountain, causing men who looked upon this to reflect. Furthermore, God raises Mount Sinai above his head and shook it, “as if it had been a canopy,” causing men to fear him.

2.3. MOUNTAINS OF JUDGEMENT ON THE LAST DAY

The following verse describes the Final Judgment:

They ask thee about the (final) Hour – when will be its appointed time? Say: “The knowledge thereof is with my Lord (alone): None but He can reveal as to when it will come to you.” They ask thee as if thou Wert eager in search thereof: Say: “The knowledge thereof is with Allah (alone), but most men know not.” (7:187)

Twelve verses belong to this category: 18:47, 20:105, 27:88, 52:10, 56:5, 69:14, 70:9, 73:14, 77:10, 78:20, 81:3, and 101:5 (Table 1). On the Last Day, God uproots and removes mountains. In addition, mountains are “in violent commotion,” “fly hither and thither,” and are “crushed to powder at one stroke.” They “pass away as the clouds,” are “scattered as dust,” are “like as wool,” “vanish like a mirage,” are “crumbled to atoms,” and are “as a heap of sand poured and flowing down.” (Figure 3)

Verses belonging to this category include “One Day We shall remove the mountains, and thou wilt see the earth as a level stretch, wilt” (18:47), “They ask thee concerning the mountains: say, ‘My Lord will uproot them and scatter them as dust’” (20:105), “On the Day. . . the mountains will fly hither and thither” (52:10), “One Day the earth and the mountains will be in violent commotion. And the mountains will be as a heap of sand poured out and flowing down” (73:14), and “mountains . . . are crushed to powder at one stroke” (69:14).” In other words, mountains are leveled and destroyed by God. The crushed mountains are described as “passing away as the clouds” and “scattered as dust”; they become like “heap of sand poured and flowing down” and like wool. In the end they vanish like a mirage.

2.4. MOUNTAINS THAT PRAISE GOD AND BOW DOWN IN WORSHIP TO HIM

Four verses belong to this category: 21:79, 22:18, 34:10, and 38:18 (Table 1). These anthropomorphic mountains “celebrate praises” to God together with birds and man (David). Together with “all things that are in the heavens and on earth,” they “bow down in worship” to God (Figure 4).

A verse that belongs to this category is “it was Our power that made the hills and the birds celebrate Our praises with David” (21:79). In this verse, “Our” refers to God. The hills praise God together with David and the birds. This behavior is also seen in 34:10 and 38:18.

Furthermore, 22:18 states: “Seest thou not that to Allah bow down in worship all things that are in the heavens and on earth, the sun, the moon, the stars; the hills, the trees, the animals; and a great number among mankind?” Mountains, which are considered the same as hills in Arabic, are part of “all things that are in the heavens and on earth” that “bow down in worship” to God.

2.5. MOUNTAINS ESTABLISHED BY MEN AS SECURE HOUSES AND SHELTERS IN RETURN FOR FEAR OF GOD

Six verses belong to this category: 7:74, 11:43, 15:82, 16:68, 16:81, and 26:149 (Table 1). These mountains are the places where men bow edifices and carve houses, and God provides secure habitations and makes men’s shelters. Though, men remember the benefits from God, refrain from evil, bow to God’s Will in Islam, fear God, and obey God; otherwise, men cannot receive them. Beyond that, man (the Noah’s son) try to betake himself to mountain to save from the flood. But he cannot save, because he doesn’t have mercy (Figure 5).
Verses that belong to this category include “Will ye be left secure, in (the enjoyment of) all that ye have here?” (26:146), “And ye carve houses out of (rocky) mountains with great skill” (26:149), and “But fear Allah and obey me” (26:150). Here, men carve houses out of mountains and consider them secure places. However, if they do not fear and obey God, they will not obtain this security. In the same manner, in verse 7:74 and 15:82 men “hew edifices,” which provide habitations that allows them to feel secure. This benefit is given only to those whose “remembrance of the benefit from God” is aroused, who refrain from evil, and who do not turn away from God’s signs. Furthermore, the Qur’an states: “The son replied: ‘I will betake myself to some mountain: it will save me from the water.’ Noah said: ‘This day nothing can save, from the command of Allah, any but those on whom He hath mercy!’ And the waves came between them, and the son was among those overwhelmed in the Flood” (11:43). Here, a mountain is described as a place that saves one from the water. The Noah’s son sought to escape to the mountain on his own strength without recourse to the mercy of God. As a result, he was overwhelmed in the Flood.

Verse 16:81 also states: “It is Allah Who made out of the things He created, some things to give you shade! of the hills He made some for your shelter; . . . Thus does He complete His things He created, some things to give you shade!” (2:158). The hills are described as places that save one from the water. The Noah’s son sought to escape to the mountain on his own strength without recourse to the mercy of God. As a result, he was overwhelmed in the Flood.

2.6. MOUNTAINS AS FIXED GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATIONS

Eleven verses belong to this category: 2:158, 2:198, 11:44, 19:52, 20:80, 20:83, 23:20, 28:29, 28:46, 52:1, and 95:2 (Table 1). There are five mountains expressing fixed geographical locations: (a) Mount Sinai is a place where God shows his covenant, makes Moses draw near to him, and called Moses, and a tree springs that produce oil and relish for those who use it for food; (b) Safa and Marwa, a place where men (“those who visit”) compass round “in the Season” (of pilgrimages); (c) Mount Arafat, a place men celebrate the praises of Allah at base of, during pilgrimages; and (d) Mount Judi, where Noah’s ark rest, the moment God’s word made the water (flood) abated (Figure 6).

Fig 6. Mountains as fixed geographical locations

Verses that support (a) include “And we called him from the right side of Mount (Sinai), and made him draw near to Us, for mystic (converse)” (19:52). This feature is seen in 20:80, 28:29, 28:46. Furthermore, “by the Mount (of Revelation)” (52:1), God showed his covenant on Mount Sinai. Verse 23:20 also states, “Also a tree springing out of Mount Sinai, which produces oil, and relish for those who use it for food,” showing the special characteristics of Mount Sinai itself.

Verses supporting (b) include “Behold! Safa and Marwa are among the Symbols of Allah. So if those who visit the House in the Season or at other times, should compass them round, it is no sin in them. And if any one obeyeth his own impulse to good, - be sure that Allah is He Who recogniseth and knoweth” (2:158). Safa and Marwa are symbols of God. Circling (“compassing round”) them is recognized by God as an act of virtue.

Verses supporting (c) include “It is no crime in you if ye seek of the bounty of your Lord (during pilgrimage). Then when ye pour down from (Mount) Arafat, celebrate the praises of Allah at the Sacred Monument, and celebrate His praises as He has directed you” (2:198). During pilgrimages, people convene upon Mount Arafat and celebrate the praises of Allah at the sacred site.

Verses belonging to (d) include “Then the word went forth: ‘O earth! Swallow up thy water, and O sky! Withhold (thy rain)!’ and the water abated, and the matter was ended. The Ark rested on Mount Judi” (11:44). Mount Judi was the place where Noah’s Ark rested after God abated the water.

2.7. MOUNTAINS AS TALL AND STRONG OBJECTS

Seven verses belong to this category: 11:42, 14:46, 17:37, 24:43, 26:63, 42:32, and 55:24 (Table 1). Here, mountains are used as similes. (a) Mountains are described as objects that men cannot shake by their power, and objects that men cannot reach in height. Also, (b) because the salient feature of mountains is that they are extremely tall, they are used to express the appearance of waves, clouds, ships’ masts, and separated parts of sea as simile (Figure 7).

Fig 7. Mountains as tall and strong objects

Verses falling under (a) include “Mighty indeed were the plots which they made, but their plots were (well) within the sight of Allah, even though they were such as to shake the hills!” (14:46). The hills are described as objects that men cannot move with their strength. Furthermore, verse 17:37 states: “Nor walk on the earth with insolence: for thou canst not rend the earth asunder, nor reach the mountains in height.” The mountains are described as objects that exceed men’s height.

Verses categorized as (b) include “So the Ark floated with them on the waves (towering) like mountains” (11:42), “He sends down from the sky mountain masses (of clouds) wherein is hail: He strikes therewith whom He pleases and He turns it away from whom He pleases” (24:43). “Then We told Moses by inspiration: ‘Strike the sea with thy rod.’ So divided, and each separate part become like the huge, firm mass of a mountain” (26:63). Waves and clouds are likened to mountains. Mountains are also used to describe the height and grandeur of the parts of the sea divided by Moses. Also, as in 43:32, mountains are used in 55:24 to describe extremely tall objects: “And His are the Ships sailing smoothly through the seas, lofty as mountains.”
Types of Mountains in the Qur’an

2.8. MOUNTAINS OF OTHER TYPE

Four verses belong to this category: 2:260, 21:96, 33:62, and 35:27 (Table 1). These depictions of mountains do not belong to any of the seven categories described above. The mountains depicted show (a) places where God’s might shows, and places where Gog and Magog “swiftly swarm” (b) God offered the Trust to mountains and men, but mountains “refused to undertake” it and men undertook it, also (c) Mountains appear in various color. (Figure 8).

Fig. 8 Other types of mountains

Verses that belong to (a) include: “Abraham said: ‘My Lord! Show me how Thou givest life to the dead.’ He said: ‘Dost thou not then believe?’ He said: ‘Yea! but to satisfy My own understanding.’ He said: ‘Take four birds; Tame them to turn to thee; put a portion of them on every hill and call to them: They will come to thee (Flying) with speed’ (2:260). Here, hills are places where God’s might is displayed. Furthermore, verse 21:96 states: “Until the Gog and Magog (people) are let through (their barrier), and they swiftly swarm from every hill.” The hill here is a place where Gog and Magog, who overwhelms the land with great evil, originate.

Verses that belong to (b) include “We did indeed offer the Trust to the Heavens and the Earth and the Mountains; but they refused to undertake it, being afraid thereof but man undertook it” (33:72). Here, mountains were offered trust by God, but were afraid and refused to accept it.

Verses belonging to (c) include “And in the mountains are tracts white and red, of various shades of colour, and black intense in hue” (35:27).

3. Conclusion

The purpose of this paper was to clarify the uses of mountains in the Qur’an. We focused especially on and analyzed the relationships between God, man, and, mountains.

The results revealed eight types of mountains: (1) Mountains set by God on earth and blessings; (2) Mountains that God crushes, shakes, and raises, resulting in man’s fear of God; (3) Mountains of Judgment on the Last Day; (4) Mountains that praise God and bow down in worship to him; (5) Mountains established by men as secure houses and shelters in return for fear of God; (6) Mountains as fixed geographic locations; (7) Mountains as tall and strong objects; and (8) Other types of mountains

By expressing the schema of each type in diagrams, we could visualize the diverse features of the relationships between God, man, and mountains. In addition, each of the three independently makes impacts. The types include God influencing men by manipulating mountains, mountains praising God along with man, and mountains as refuge because men fear God.

Endnotes

1. “Man” means human being in this paper. That conforms to expression of “The Meaning of the Holy Qur’an”.
2. Fukami, pp. 19-33.
3. Fukami, p33.
4. According to A Concordance of the Qur’an, “jabal” in Arabic means both “mountain” and “hill.” Verses that include “jabal” are translated by Yusuf Ali as either “mountain(s)” or “hill(s).”
